National Quality Standards: Inclusion in Practice Forum

Did you know the 2018 revised National Quality Standards (NQS) has highlighted the importance of inclusion in quality services?

The Australian Children's Education & Care Quality Authority (ACECQA) has teamed up with Inclusion Support QLD to offer a series of forums for educators to join together and discuss the revised NQS and what it means for inclusion in your service. Come and meet Rhonda Livingstone, ACECQA's National Education Leader, who will talk about the new NQS and workshop what inclusion looks like in practice with other educators.

The forum will include discussion around:

- ▶ How the National Quality Framework (NQF) and standards underpin inclusion
- ▶ What inclusive practice and environments look like
- ▶ Key changes to the NQF
- ▶ Strategic inclusion planning
- ▶ Stories from the field

What participants who attended this forum had to say:

"I thought that inclusion was only covered in Quality Area 6, now I understand that it underpins all of the quality areas."
